Comments on first draft of Comprehensive Plan Update, July 18, 2008

Throughout the past year's Comp Plan update planning process, the community has made it clear that stewardship of wildlife and other sensitive natural resources is its top priority. Protection of wildlife and natural resources is also at the heart of the Conservation Alliance's mission, and we have long recognized the role of strong land-use planning in our work. This is why we have been, and will continue to be, very active in the update process. Even though the multitude of Comp Plan documents (and the many pages within those documents) can seem overwhelming, we encourage you to stay informed and engaged. The future of Jackson Hole and all that it holds for its wildlife, residents and visitors depends on it.

Below are links to our current comments. The detailed comments include the text of the draft document with our comments incorporated within draft language. (We have highlighted sections of the draft in yellow and provided comments in green italicized print.) Some comments recommend specific language, and some simply raise concerns about the need for clarification or elaboration on a particular idea. As new information comes forward, we will work to bring new comments, ideas and solutions to the table. Check <http://www.jhalliance.org/issuescompplan.htm> for updates.
